

Domino's Pizza, Inc.
2025 Political Contributions and Public Policy Engagement Report

Domino's Pizza, Inc. (the "Company" or "we") is committed to being actively involved in the communities we serve and to conducting business ethically, with integrity and in compliance with all applicable laws. The Company has established its Political Contributions and Public Policy Engagement Policy (the "Policy") to set clear, transparent guidelines for all corporate political contributions and public policy advocacy activities and is providing this Report in accordance with the Policy.

The Company does not currently use corporate funds for direct political contributions and may not use corporate funds for such contributions. The Company does not have a Political Action Committee ("PAC"). Should the Company determine to use corporate funds for political contributions or form a PAC, the Company will update the Policy accordingly and will disclose such decision and activities.

Like most major U.S. corporations, the Company may indirectly engage in advocacy activities and communicate our positions on public policies through trade associations to which we may belong. These organizations give us a collective voice with our industry partners, enabling us to shape public policy more efficiently. The Company does not always agree with the views of or with every position adopted by these groups and reviews its involvement with trade associations and other organizations on an ongoing basis.

Pursuant to the Policy, the Company conducts its public policy activities under the direction of appropriate senior management, including the Company's Chief Executive Officer and the Company's General Counsel, with oversight by the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee (the "Committee") of the Company's Board of Directors.

The following is a list of the trade associations and similar organizations in which we participate. Amounts are broken out by total amount paid and the non-deductible portion of each payment.
